British Columbia Director's Report
2021 CSCT AGM, Virtual, Oct 16, 2021

Greetings fellow CSCT members,

In BC, our 2021 AGM was held virtually via ZOOM Webinar on May 30. Turnout was again strong as 124 members attended. A trial education session was held via Zoom Webinar to test the Technology for running future online events and AGMs. The format turned out to be very successful and we'll be using this platform moving forward to host all CTABC online events. We're still undecided due to the current pandemic as to the delivery format of our 2022 AGM. In the meantime, we'll be selecting a provisional hosting site with hopes that an in-person event can be held.

The biggest news was the naming of a new CTABC President. Amy Gill, our Education Director has stepped up to lead our membership through the next term and hopefully beyond. Amy personable disposition and calm demeanor will serve her well in the position.

The Board will be striving to improve member engagement through stronger communications and increased educational opportunities. We also hope to finally have some movement from the provincial government on next steps resulting from the Cayton Report on regulatory colleges in BC. We are still optimistic that we'll be included under the umbrella of the new framework.

The CTABC BOD will continue to meet virtually every month for the time being. As always, we'll keep on top of developments as they arise.
